

Kathleen Mather

Kathleen Mather holds a BAsC and MSc in Applied Human Nutrition and is currently a second year Doctor of Public Health student at the University of Toronto. She has worked in a variety of settings as a Registered Dietitian and since 2019 has worked for a CIHR Strategy for Patient Oriented Research funded health research unit. Kathleen is particularly interested in the role of community engagement in population health interventions, specifically those related to the impacts of climate change. She is looking forward to the opportunity to connect with and learn from others through this event!